

"A Day in the Life of a Child"

This album of music for children with special needs is being launched on our website, www.magicalmusic.org, to download for free.

Music is an important teaching tool for children with autism and special needs. We have received many testimonials from parents, teachers, and therapists regarding this album's songs and the impact of this music on these children.

TESTIMONIALS

"My son with autism is now 21. How I wish this music had been available when he was young. What a great teaching tool - and so much fun to listen to." ~ a mother

"This is so perfect - it is just what is needed in the classroom. How wonderful that the songs have both an up tempo and a teaching version making it applicable for such a broad range of children" ~ a special education teacher

"It is about time musicians stepped up to produce music for a population of children that SO need it." ~ a music therapist

"Oh, my son LOVES this music. It has really made him more engaged. I can't wait until Magical Music adds to the library." ~ a mother

Concert in Development for "A Day in the Life of a Child"

After our preview concert at TUNES IN TIMES SQUARE, we intend to move forward with taking these special needs songs as concertized music to libraries and schools. We are committed to spreading the music in all formats, including live concerts.

MMFL is Back at Full Strength with Three Singing Groups

The Junior Singers have joined the Magical Music Singers and the Mini Singers to give us a full complement of groups to perform at schools, hospitals, libraries, charity functions, and TUNES IN TIMES SQUARE this year. We are delighted to have all of these talented singers performing and sharing our music.

TUNES IN TIMES SQUARE

is returning for its 3rd annual sing-a-thon on May 4, 2014.

Thank you to all the people who entertained and donated for this event in the past!

Meet Our New Staff

Lindsey Simpson (Music Director for the Mini & Junior Singers) was a member of the very first Magical Music Singers in 2005. Lindsey received her Master's degree from Columbia University Teachers College in elementary inclusive and special education. She has taught musical theater classes at The Studio in New Canaan and presently teaches kindergarten in NY. Last year, Lindsey rejoined the Magical Music team as the director of the Two Little Snowflakes play.

Jerold Goldstein (Musical Director for the Magical Music Singers) has performed in numerous musical productions in NYC and on national tours, including Face the Music for the NYC's ENCORES series and on Broadway in How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying and Ain't Broadway Grand. He won the Barrymore Award for Gun Metal Blues, was in the Kennedy Center's Shear Madness, & toured Europe in 42nd Street. He has composed for theater and television.

Pamela Crum (Director of Grants & Administration) started as an MMFL volunteer in 2004 working on its One Town ... One Voice concerts. Since then she has been involved in most aspects of the foundation, where her daughter became an MMFL Singer. She has a BS in Business and worked with computers, as an admin. analyst, and a graphic designer. She has a love of music and belief in the impact it can have on children and adults, both emotionally and educationally.
